A DAY OF MOURNING.

Decoration Day Has New Meaning in St. Louis.

A HUNDRED FUNERALS.

The Work of Relief Has Been Actively Begun.

ST. LOUIS IS SELF RELIANT.

The Missouri City Will Care for all Her Distressed But East St. Louis Must Have Assistance—Extraordinary Appropriations by City Authorities—Story of the Day—Plundering Will Not Be Tolerated—The Gruesome Fate of a Robber—A Detachment of Chicago Detectives Will Assist in Protecting Property.

St. Louis, May 29.—Memorial Day of 1896 will hereafter be an anniversary of saddened memories to the people of the Mound City.

"Old Glorys" innumerable will, as of old, float in the breeze to-morrow, but instead of a proud position at the head of the poles, they will be lowered to the sign of mourning and sorrow at half mast. Beneath them, procession after procession will wind its way around the principal thoroughfares and over Grand avenue to the last resting places of the departed at the beautiful Calvary and Bellefontaine. The strains of brass bands will fill the air as on previous decoration days, but the patriotic airs of "Marching Through Georgia" and Rally Round the Flag, Boys," will give place to funeral dirges and dead marches.

Old and New Griefs.

The boys in blue, in accordance with time-honored custom, will march to the respective points, where honors are to be presented to the departed veterans of the war; but before them will be heard the steady tramp and witnessed the impressive spectacle of companies of Free Masons, Pythians, Odd Fellows and representatives of other secret societies as they will follow the funeral carriages that bear the remains of some brother whose life paid forfeit to the fury of the elements on Wednesday night. There will be flowers galore in the cities of the dead, but the designs of the square and the compass, the cross and the circle, the wreaths of evergreens and forget-me-nots all tokens of a present burial, will be more numerous than loose cut flowers and evergreens, with which has been the custom in this locality to decorate the abiding places of those that have gone before.

There will be the time-honored orations tinged with patriotic fervor, but from pulpits by the score over the burying ground [illegible] be heard the voices of the men of God as they pronounce the last invocation, and mingling with their solemn words the sobs and moans of the grief-stricken relatives and friends of those whose mortal remains are being consigned to mother earth.

Passing of the Aftermath.

And so with the sunset and the Sabbath will come the "passing of the aftermath" of the second great calamity of this decade, and so also, with the dawn of a new week the metropolis of the Southwest, relegating to history the horrors and terrors of the past few days, will gird herself and resume her march of commercial and social progress.

There were a number of funerals to-day, but relatives of the great majority of the victims preferred to take advantage of the fact that to-morrow is Decoration Day and a half holiday, and therefore, arranged accordingly for the interments. As a result the undertaking establishments were "rushed" to an extent unprecedented and the ambulance shaped black vehicles employed to carry the caskets were, at times during the day, to be encountered every few blocks. So heavy was the pressure upon the funeral directors that in many cases it was this evening found absolutely necessary to defer the interments until Sunday. The number of burials will to-morrow, however, exceed 100.

The conditions in East St. Louis are precisely in accord with those of this city. The preparations and programme of the one are those of its namesake and neighbor across the river.

Municipal Relief Measures.

At a regular meeting of the Municipal Assembly to-night, Mayor Walbridge submitted a special message asking that the assembly appropriate $100,000 for the relief of the storm sufferers. This proposition was favorably received, but the exigencies of legislation will delay conclusive action for several days. The money is to be immediately available upon the passage of the measure. The committee report will be made to-morrow. Informal discussion was had and it was agreed that every appropriation for public improvements not pledged on contracts already made, should be diverted to the relief fund. The disbursement of this fund will be under municipal control and will be independent of other relief measures.

Mayor Walbridge took occasion to point out in his message that St. Louis was the only city in the country that had weathered safely the recent financial gale, and it should not be said that any disturbance, physical or financial, could make St. Louis a mendicant asking alms. This independence of feeling seems universal here. It does not appear to be braggadocio, but serene confidence in the ability and disposition of St. Louis to care for the storm victims.

A Plunderer's Fate.

There is one particular unidentified body in the morgue that to-morrow will be interred in the Potter's Field simply because it is too badly mangled to be of service to the anatomical demonstration class of any of the local medical colleges; and the injuries which resulted in the victim's death are not attributable to the tornado, but were rather a sequence of the horror. A couple of hours after the power house of the South Side Electric Line had been levelled with nine employes in the ruins, a triumphant looking individual put in an appearance and volunteered to assist in the search. During the night four bodies were taken from the debris and laid side by side. Then, according to a local citizen, who told his story at the morgue to-day, the volunteer availing himself of what he thought was a favorable opportunity, tried to rifle the clothing of the dead. He was caught in the act by one of the searchers, who without warning felled him with a brick. Then, with cries of "lynch the thief," the entire party of searchers fell upon him with kicks and blows from boards and scantlings. When they paused for breath the ghoul was dead. A pledge of secrecy was quickly passed around, the ambulance was sent for and the body conveyed to the morgue under the supposition that it was that of a victim of the power house wreck. This story, if it is founded upon fact, narrates the solitary case of lynching that marked the aftermath of the storm.

Sacrilege and Robbery.

Less ghastly, but in the same ghoulish line, was the story told in the police court to-day which resulted in Jacob Wiens and Joseph Woods being fined $50 each on the charge of disturbing the peace. Early this morning they burrowed through the ruins of St. James Lutheran church on California avenue, to the basement, where they had learned that several bottles of communion wine were stored. After drinking their fill they loaded their arms with bottles and seating themselves on the sidewalk invited the passers-by to drink the consecrated liquor to the tune of a blasphemous toast. Police Capt. Keeble and Sergt. Hann, both of whom were in plain clothes, were among those so invited, and when they undertook to arrest the depredators, Woods drew a knife and attempted to stab them. People in the crowd came to the assistance of the officers and the men were disarmed and taken to the station.

The Latest Death List.

From detailed reports received by the United Press from official sources up to 9:30 p. m., the following tabulated statement is prepared:

Identified dead in St. Louis, 176; unknown dead in St. Louis, 8; fatally injured in St. Louis, 18; missing in St. Louis, 40.

Identified dead in East St. Louis, 112; unknown dead in East St. Louis, 2; fatally injured in East St. Louis, 1; total fatality, 388.

STORY OF THE DAY.

How the Work of Search, Rescue and Repair Was Continued—Some Incidents.

St. Louis, May 29.—The relief committees formed yesterday were at work early this morning and gangs of men were everywhere to be seen searching the ruins for bodies. No attempt at relief work beyond this was made, the sole effort of the men in the employ of the relief committees being directed towards bringing to light the full extent of death dealt out by Wednesday's great storm. The city, aided by men from the street car companies, began clearing the streets of dismantled poles, wires and debris early in the morning, and this greatly accelerated the movements of the people, who are beginning to bring a semblance of order out of the utter confusion of yesterday. Carpenters and useful men of all trades are in demand. Hundreds are busy repairing damaged buildings and there are many inquiries for others from manufacturing concerns, who are anxious to restore their buildings and resume business. It will be many weeks, however, before business shall have resumed its normal condition.

Killed and Injured.

The number of people killed in St. Louis and the city across the river is now 388 and the list is being augmented almost hourly. It is believed that when the search is completed the death roll will reach 500 and many people believe there are bodies at the bottom of the Mississippi, which will never be recovered.

The injured are legion—their number being estimated at from 800 to 1,000 in this city and 200 to 300 in East St. Louis. All through the night without cessation gangs of workmen plied their search for victims of Wednesday's cyclone, eight bodies rewarding them.

At 4 o'clock this morning the body of an unknown man was taken from the Soulard market ruins. John Plank of 1605 Lafayette avenue, died at St. John's hospital this morning from injuries received in the cyclone. Many of the injured are hovering between life and death.

Miss Clara Herrmann died to-day from the effects of injuries sustained in the cyclone. The young lady and her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Herrman, were buried beneath the house they occupied, Mrs. Herrmann, aged 52 years was instantly killed, her body being crushed almost to pulp. Mr. Herrmann was so badly injured that his physicians say his death is only a matter of time.

A great many persons estimate that over 25 persons lost their lives in the Mississippi river and the chances that their bodies will never be recovered. The number of persons who lost their lives by being blown into the river from flat boats and were carried down by overturned steamboats is problematical and only when a tabulated list of the missing can be made will the exact number be known.

Hundreds of Homeless.

Hundreds of homeless people slept in the open air last night. The public buildings were thrown open for the accommodation of the destitute and unfortunate and these places were crowded to their capacity. Food for the hungry was furnished liberally by citizens and keepers of restaurants in the neighborhood of these temporary shelters.

All night and throughout this morning hundreds and in some cases thousands of people surrounded the temporary morgues and within heartrending scenes were enacted as relatives came to take away the remains of their loved ones and parties seeking to identify some of the unknown dead made the rounds of the silent forms. Hundreds of furniture wagons, carts, and in many cases buggies and private vehicles were brought into requisition this morning to move away whatever of their personal property can be dug out of the ruins or, at the risk of the lives of the salvage corps, can be gotten from the lower rooms of residences, the walls of which are tottering and threatening every moment to bury those beneath. The weather is fine.

No Interference with the Convention.

The business men's league to-day issued a statement to the country to the effect that the disaster will in no way interfere with the arrangements already made for the Republican convention or the housing and entertainment of the delegates.

Despite the exaggerated stories that were given circulation during the hour immediately following the calamity, when the impression was sought to be conveyed that all St. Louis had been laid low and that the exposition and convention auditorium had been wiped out, it should be now definitely known through the country that only a narrow strip across the Mill Creek valley was devastated, and that the principal business portion of the city is unscathed. The damage to the structure in which the convention is to be held is much less than at first anticipated, and will not exceed $1,500, and repairs can be completed by the end of next week.

None of the large hotels have been injured in any way, and the section of the city that felt the brunt of the storm includes but a handful of houses that have been placed in the list of contingent extra accommodations for visitors. More than nine-tenths of the houses so listed and covering a radius from half a mile to two miles west of the auditorium are in a district entirely outside the path of the storm.

Holding the Inquests.

Coroner Wait held inquests all day. In each case a stereotyped verdict setting forward the fact that the deceased had come to his or her death by injuries received as the result of a tornado was returned. Inquests were held also in East St. Louis, the verdicts being in similar terms.

The bodies of Miss Isola Horn and Emma Cheney, stenographers employed by the Sawyer Manufacturing company at Eighteenth and Chouteau, who died clasped in each other's arms, rest side by side on a mattress in a boarding house, awaiting advices from relatives. Miss Cheney has a brother in Chicago while her mother resides in Montreal.

Miss Minnie Conrad, 22 years of age, daughter of Lieutenant Conrad of Jefferson barracks, is believed to be among the killed. She left home Wednesday afternoon and has not been seen or heard from since.

A Marvelous Rescue.

While workmen were digging in the ruins of one of the tenements at Seventh and Rutger streets, where so much havoc was caused, an infant voice cried out: "Please don't be so rough." An opening was quickly made in the debris above the spot from whence the voice issued and through its depths a 10-year-old boy and three girls about the same age appeared. All were uninjured though they were weak from hunger and confinement for nearly 17 hours. A shout of joy went up from the crowd, and before the police could ascertain any names, the little ones had been led away. Somebody asked the little boy as he was disappearing how he came to be so lucky, and he piped in childish accents: "We just fell in a soft place."

Among the missing reported are George Howard of Minneapolis and Edward Ray, a stockholder of the Massillon Bridge company of Robinson, Ill. Their bodies are not among the unrecognized dead at the morgues.

Protection from Criminals.

There was a conference this afternoon between Chief of Police Harrigan of this city and Chief Badenoch and Inspector Fitzpatrick of Chicago, the two latter of whom had been instructed by Mayor Swift of that city to investigate the condition of affairs here and in East St. Louis with a view of rendering any needed assistance toward protecting the devastated districts against the criminal element. As an outcome of the interchange of opinions, Chief Badenoch telegraphed to Chicago ordering the immediate departure for this city of nine crack members of the Chicago detective corps who on their arrival will be detailed to watch the operations of a number of well-known crooks from Eastern and Western cities. According to confidential advices received from various chiefs of police and detective agencies many crooks are heading for this city expecting a harvest similar to that gathered in by the light-fingered and burglarizing fraternity during the days immediately following the Johnstown flood. It is also arranged that the Chicago detectives shall remain in this city until the windup of the Republican national convention. While there has been no systematic effort toward pillaging the devastated district, Chief Harrigan as a matter of precaution to-day swore in 100 specials to assist the militia in protecting the property exposed in the ruins. The Chicago detectives will be under the command of Chief of Detectives Desmond, and the local authorities will co-operate with those of East St. Louis in keeping the criminal element in check.

In the town across the river the business men have organized a vigilance committee, and on the telegraph and electric light poles written notices are posted to the effect that ghouls and purloiners of property from wrecked houses, business properties and railroad cars will be given short shrift and an opportunity of diving from the Eads bridge into the Mississippi river. Instructions have also been given to the police of the Illinois city to shoot on sight every individual caught in the act of robbing the ruins.

RELIEF MEASURES.

Charitable Work Undertaken in St. Louis and Elsewhere.

Until to-night measures for the relief and succor of the poorer class affected by the disaster had been lost sight of by the authorities in the press of duty, necessitated by the protection of the district in the path of the storm. Urgent demands for relief, however, can no longer be evaded, and accordingly Mayor Walbridge will early to-morrow morning summon the Board of Public Improvement to his office to devise immediate measures for the relief of those who are suffering or are, within a few days, likely to suffer as a result of the calamity. Meanwhile the theatrical profession is placing itself very much in evidence.

William J. Baker, exalted ruler of the famous No. 9 Lodge of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, has issued a call for a meeting at headquarters to-morrow afternoon of all local members of the organization and members of the theatrical profession temporarily resident in the city. At this meeting steps will be taken toward making a handsome contribution for the purpose of a general relief fund. As soon as the intention of the Mayor to convene members of his cabinet can be known to-night managers of Hagan theater, Olympic and Grand opera houses united in advising the executive that their play houses were at the disposal of the relief committees.

Similar action was taken to-night by the managers of the summer theaters.

Distress in East St. Louis.

In East St. Louis there are hundreds of persons with no homes, no money and even without a stitch of clothing of their own to be provided for, and assistance from other cities will be required.

Mayor Bader said to a reporter of the United Press: "There are at least 2,500 persons in this city that are utterly without shelter, food or clothing. And what adds to the distress of the situation, the majority of them are poor people can barely manage to live tolerably when they have ordinary good fortune.

"As nearly as we have been able to count up there are nearly 600 houses destroyed, with not less than from three to six people in each of them. Their clothing was destroyed—blown away. So was their furniture and bedding, and few of them have money to buy any more.

"We have been obliged to appeal through the United Press to the outside world for aid, and I hope it will be responded to readily, for the emergency is pressing."

At a meeting of a few representative citizens last night the sum of $3,000 was subscribed towards alleviating the suffering of the cyclone victims.

The Tornado Called.

Kansas City, May 29.—A dispatch received to-day from the agent of the St. Louis and Hannibal railroad at Bowling Green, Mo., states that the tornado struck eight miles from that city, unroofed the depot at Burryville, demolished several houses and killed one woman.

Both Parents and 11 Children Killed.

Lincoln, May 29.—On the 16th of the present month S. P. Munn and his family moved from this city to St. Louis, and all but one of the entire family were killed in the St. Louis tornado. There were 13 in the family. One son, Fred, was left here and is still in the city, and one of the boys, Frank, escaped death, but the father, mother, and eleven other children met death in the awful catastrophe. The sad news was received by Fred Munn to-day in a letter from Frank, who had an almost miraculous escape from the fate of the other members of the family. The St. Louis address of the family is not given. S. P. Munn was a Lincoln contractor, and lived here many years.

Royal Arcanum.

Savannah, Ga., May 29.—The Supreme Council of the Royal Arcanum completed its work and adjourned at 2 o'clock to-day to meet next year in Boston. The only business at to-day's session was the installation of officers. Most of the members of the council will leave to-night for their homes.

RECKONING THE DAMAGES.

St. Louis's Property Loss Will Be $20,000,000.

THOUSANDS ARE HOMELESS.

Damage to Church Property was Particularly Severe—Life-Time Savings Annihilated by the Storm—South St. Louis Destroyed.

St. Louis, May 29.—Forgetting every personal interest that clashes with the work of mercy, the people of this city who escaped the fury of the storm have incessantly ministered to the suffering of the luckless thousands. Since the dreadful 20 minutes of disaster Wednesday evening, no thought has been given to property losses. The worst is now known, however, and the work of computing material losses has begun. As the world knows, the greater number of sufferers are small property owners. Their individual losses are small, but they aggregate the larger part of the whole. A survey of the district made to-day shows that over 3,000 houses have been damaged or wholly destroyed. These were mainly residences of the middle class, small shopkeepers and mechanics. The damage to church property was particularly severe.

Damages to Churches.

Following are estimated losses to churches: St. John Nepomuka, $50,000; Lafayette Park Presbyterian, $16,000; Lafayette Park Methodist, $10,000; Lafayette Park Baptist, $8,000; Church of the Unity, $10,000; Mount Calvary Episcopal, $20,000; Memorial German M. E., $20,000; Holy Cross, Saxton, $12,000; Compton Hill Congregational, $1,000; Compton Heights Christian, $1,000; St. Henry's Catholic, $10,000; St. Paul's Evangelical, $20,000; Trinity Lutheran, $16,000; St. Vincent's Catholic, $3,000; SS. Peter and Paul, $3,000; St. John Episcopal, $13,000; Annunciation, Catholic, $106,000.

A Loss of $20,000,000.

Irresponsible correspondents and sensation mongers have wired to the outside world preposterous estimates of the losses here, some reaching the absurd figure of $60,000,000. The estimates of good architects and reputable real estate dealers, place the property l[illegible] around $20,000,000. An inspection made to-day gives the following:

In and along the levee, Main, Second and Third, from Washington to Market, the l[illegible] will figure up fully $1,000,000.

From Market to [illegible] and from O'Fallon south to Franklin, the [illegible] is half a million. A class of hard-working people occupy this territory. The damage here is pathetic.

In the territory south from Market to Chouteau, along Broadway and east to the river front, a [illegible] a half dollars will hardly cover the loss. This is mostly manufacturing [illegible] property.

Southward, along Broadway from Chouteau avenue to Lafayette avenue, and embracing a territory [illegible] to the river, property has been destroyed to the extent of [illegible],000, [illegible] includes mostly retail stores and manufacturing plants.

Hardly a Building Spared.

From the Lafayette avenue bank south to Soulard, the storm's fury wreaked awful vengeance. The l[illegible] sustained was $650,000. Hardly a building on either side of Broadway was [illegible]. They were occupied by prosperous retail stores representing the energy and thrift of a lifetime.

Embracing all the district south of Soulard, from the river west to the city limits, the loss to residence and business property is estimated at $1,000,000.

Going north again and taking in all the territory up to the city hospital, the damage figures $1,000,000.

In the immediate vicinity of the hospital another $1,000,000 is reached.

Northeast of the hospital property has been destroyed to the extent of $1,000,000, while Lafayette Park and vicinity gives as much more. Westward from Lafayette Park and north to Chouteau avenue the loss is $2,000,000. Down Chouteau from Jefferson avenue to Seventh street and north to the railroad tracks, $2,000,000 is damaged.

Appalling Disaster.

Along Park avenue, from Tenth to Seventh and north of Seventh to Market, $1,500,000 will about cover the loss. The distress and disaster through this section are appalling.

The remaining $4,150,000 is scattered through the central, western and northwestern portions of the city. It includes damage to churches and public buildings.

The damage to school property is $100,000.

Nearly all of South St. Louis is practically destroyed. Wrecked buildings and those partly damaged cannot be repaired. It will be fully two years before the effects of the hurricane are effaced.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Election Uncertainties Exert a Depressing Effect on Business.

New York, May 29.—R. G. Dun & Co. will say to-morrow in their Weekly Review of trade:

Failures for the week have been [illegible] in the United States against 225 last year, and 20 in Canada against 34 last year.

Continued exports of gold are recognized as natural results of the borrowing and importing early in the year, but caused no apprehension. There is a general conviction that destructive schemes will not succeed, although at present political uncertainties cause part of the business that might be done to be postponed until the future is more clear. When conventions are over the field for doubt will be narrower. Markets for products are weak rather than stagnant. The business done is small, but largely governed by the belief in large crops and insufficient demand. Wheat has fallen 3 cents. Cotton has fallen an eighth in spite of continued reports that famine is near. The market for goods is lifeless, a reduction of indigo blue prints half a cent to 4 cents, the lowest on record, being the chief feature. Wool sales exclusive of a few speculative transactions based on extreme low prices, are less than 40 per cent. of a week's fair consumption.

Dress goods are quiet and dealings in men's wear are still unsatisfactory.

Boots and shoes shipments 6 per cent. larger than last year, when the largest were recorded, indicate that in some branches makers are catching up with their orders, and many are discharging cutters. Yet many others have orders for months ahead, and sales still run large for the season.

The iron and steel markets are weak with lower prices, because the demand for finished products is entirely inadequate though prices of these are high. Pig iron has fallen over 5 per cent. since April 1, but the average of finished products are advanced 3 per cent. Lower quotations for Bessemer and grey forge and local coke at Chicago, with stoppage of two-thirds of the furnaces in Virginia, some in Pennsylvania and others in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys, result from inability of manufacturers to sell at prices which their combinations demand. Bessemer billets being undersold by open heath iron bars, by steel bars and nails by new concerns, which are rapidly putting in machinery. Plates weakened and there is no improvement in sheets or rods, but beam makers have raised the prices $2 per ton, making a slight advance in the average of all prices for the week. It is possible that rebuilding at St. Louis may affect iron and steel markets extensively. The minor metals are all a shade stronger.

Railroad earnings for May have been 2.7 per cent. larger than last year.

Regalia Sent Back.

Moscow, May 29.—This morning the imperial regalia which was used in the coronation ceremonies in the cathedral of the Assumption last Tuesday, were transferred from the throne room in the Kremlin palace to their depository in the treasury.

The ceremony attending the transfer was similar to that employed last Monday, when the regalia was taken to the throne room. The regalia will later be taken to St. Petersburg, to be used in the ceremonies, which will take place after the return of the Emperor and Empress to the capital.

Tornado in Oklahoma.

Perry, May 29.—Pawnee, 30 miles east of here, is said to have been struck by a tornado, which killed and injured half a dozen citizens and smashed all window lights facing north and west. Hailstones four inches in diameter are said to have fallen and done great damage. Many houses and barns are reported wrecked in the country around Sheridan, but no one is known to be dead.

Two Ministers Expelled.

Middletown, Ohio, May 29.—The surprising announcement was made in the synod of the Western district of the Evangelical Lutheran church that Rev. Andrew Popp, of Stanton, Ind., and Rev. O. T. Koblitz, of Hopeville, Mercer Co., Ohio, had been fined for being drunk and disorderly by the police magistrate. The ministers were immediately expelled by the synod.

APPROPRIATION BILL VETOED.

River and Harbor Expenditures Not Approved.

THE PRESIDENT'S REASONS.

Excessive Obligations Imposed On the Government—Jobs and Schemes—Expert Advice Ignored—A Vicious Paternalism.

Washington, May 29.—The President to-day sent a message to the House vetoing the river and harbor appropriation bills. In his message the President says that the bill contemplates the immediate expenditure of $17,000,000, and continues:

"If this bill becomes a law the obligations which will be imposed on the government, together with the appropriations made for immediate expenditure on account of rivers and harbors, will amount to about $80,000,000. Nor is this all. The bill directs numerous surveys and examinations which contemplate new work and further contracts, and which portend largely increased expenditures and obligations. There is no ground to hope that in face of persistent and growing demands the aggregate appropriations for smaller schemes not covered by contracts will be reduced or even remain stationary. On the face of the bill it appears that not a few of these alleged improvements have been so improvidently planned and prosecuted that after unwise expenditure of millions of dollars, new experiments for their accomplishment have been entered upon while those entrusted with the management of public funds in the interest of all the people can hardly justify the questionable expenditures for public work by pleading opinions of engineers or others as to practicability of such work, as it appears that some of the projects for which appropriations are proposed in this bill have been entered upon without the approval of and against the objections of examining engineers.

"I learn from official sources that there are appropriations contained in the bill to pay for work which private parties actually agreed with the government to do in consideration of their occupancy of public property. I am convinced that the bill now under consideration opens the way to insidious and increasing abuses, and is itself so extravagant as to be especially unsuited to these times of depressed business and resulting disappointment in government revenue. This consideration is emphasized by the prospect that the public treasury will be confronted with other appropriations made during the present session of Congress, amounting to more than $500,000,000. To the extent that appropriations contained in this bill are instigated by private interests and promote local or individual projects, their allowance cannot fail to stimulate a vicious paternalism and encourage the sentiment among our people, already too prevalent, that their attachment to our government may properly rest upon the hope and expectation of direct and especial favors and that the extent to which they are to realize any furnish an estimate of the value of governmental care.

"I believe no greater danger confronts us as a nation than the unhappy decadence among our people of genuine and trustworthy love and affection for our government as embodiment of the highest and best aspirations of humanity and not as a giver of gifts, and because its mission is the enforcement of exact justice and equality and not allowance of unfair favoritism. I hope I may be permitted to suggest at a time when the issue of government bonds to maintain the credit and financial standing of the country is a subject of criticism, that contracts provided for in this bill would create obligations of the United States amounting to $62,000,000, no less binding than its bonds for that sum.

"GROVER CLEVELAND."

What Harrity Said.

Washington, May 29.—Several days ago Senator-elect Money of Mississippi addressed a letter to W. F. Harrity of Pennsylvania, the chairman of the national Democratic committee, asking him if it were true as reported that he (Harrity) intended to exclude from the rolls of the national convention any free silver delegate who had threatened to bolt. Mr. Harrity's reply was received to-day, and says in part:

"It is not true that I have declared my intention by the action of the Democratic national committee to exclude from the roll of the Democratic national convention any delegate who has expressed a purpose to bolt if the convention does not favor in its platform the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at a ratio of 16 to 1. In any statement made by me either privately or publicly, I did not undertake to speak for the committee, nor even as an officer thereof. What I did say was that in my personal judgment, no man ought to enter, or be permitted in any political convention or caucus who is not prepared to abide by the will of the majority and acquiesce in its decision. And I further stated that, in my opinion, that this ought to apply with equal force to those who oppose as to those who favor free and unlimited and independent coinage of silver."

Concerning Chinese.

Washington, May 29.—Attorney General Harmon has rendered two opinions construing recent laws regulating the return of Chinese to this county. In the case of Chinese laborers he holds that, if they do not return within a year, they must produce certificates from the Chinese consul at the port of departure from the United States that their delay in returning was beyond their control. This case arose from Burlington, Vt.

In the case of Chinese merchants the second decision holds that they may present a certificate from the Chinese government or from the government in which they last resided, showing their right to re-enter the United States.

Venezuelan Commission.

Washington, May 29.—The Venezuelan commission held an unimportant meeting to-day and adjourned until Friday, June 12. The question of changing headquarters from Washington to some quiet, cool place was brought up, but its consideration was postponed in view of the nonreceipt of expected representatives and documents which the members of the commission are anxious to examine before leaving town.

Sugar Bounty Payments.

Washington, May 29.—The treasury department to-day began the payment of the sugar bounty under the recent decision of the supreme court. The claims now being paid are under the [illegible],000 appropriation for accrued bounty due at the time the bounty law was repealed. There are only 600 of this class of claims.

Bills Approved.

Washington, May 29.—The President has approved the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill and [illegible] the granting to Denver, Cripple Creek and Southwestern Railroad company a right of way through the South Platte and Pikes Peak forest reserve in Colorado, and amending the revised statutes so as to provide that only citizens of the United States shall serve as engineers of merchant marine vessels of American register.

Boston-Cleveland.

Boston, May 29.—The long contest of to-day was characterized by the most disgraceful conduct on the part of the visitors ever seen here. In the eighth inning Tebeau deliberately threw the ball over the fence and when ordered to the bench called the umpire a foul name. He was ordered off the field, whereupon the other players acted in a most unbecoming manner. In the last inning O'Connor and Burkett deliberately spiked a new ball. Umpire Keefe utterly failed to control the players. Attendance, 2,752. Score: Boston, 7; Cleveland, 7. Game called on account of darkness.

Washington-Pittsburg.

New York, May 29. Charley (Silver) King made his first appearance in the box to-day since 1893, and had Pittsburg at his mercy, they only making six hits. Attendance 2000. Score: Washington 11, Pittsburg 6.

New York-Louisville.

New York, May 29.—The Louisvilles were beaten by the New Yorks because they did not give their pitcher good support. In the ninth inning, with two men on bases, Van Haltren got in the way of a drive from Clingman's bat, and though he dropped the ball, he cut off a home run that would have tied the score. Score: New York 9, Louisville 7.

Brooklyn-Chicago.

Brooklyn, May 29.—Errors at critical stages, followed by heavy stick work, enabled the Chicagos to win the game to-day. Attendance 2750. Score: Brooklyn 9, Chicago 10.

Philadelphia-St. Louis.

Philadelphia, May 29.—Philadelphia defeated St. Louis this afternoon and won its fifth successive game. Attendance 4900. Score: Philadelphia 10, St. Louis 6.

Baltimore-Cincinnati.

Baltimore, May 29.—The champions bunched their hits in the third and fifth innings to-day and earned all their runs. In the other innings Foreman was very effective and his support gilt-edged. Pond kept the hits of the visitors scattered. Attendance 5103. Score: Baltimore 4, Cincinnati 1.

THE RACES.

"Is it going to rain to-morrow?" was the universal question asked here yesterday. The question meant "Will the races be interfered with?" It looks as if everybody who can raise the price, and walk ride or crawl to Roswell this afternoon will be at the opening. If it is a bright day it is safe to estimate that ten thousand people will be on the grounds. Already the hotels are full, and the trains this morning will bring crowds from the neighboring towns.

Everything is in ship shape at the track. In the trial heats yesterday some astonishing speed was made, and the horsemen now here are enthusiastic over the new track. Heats were made yesterday in the remarkable time of 2:06, and even under that. One quarter was paced in the remarkable time of 2 minutes for the mile. It would not be a surprising thing if some sensational work is seen on the grounds in the next few days. The horse Klamath, with a record of 2:08, is on the grounds and will trot to-day. He appears in the free-for-all. In the pace, Ophelia, Keen Cutter, Caneland Wilkes and Sulphide will appear.

An interesting race to many to-day will be the cowboy relay. There will be three riders and fifteen horses will be used. The race is for five miles.

At noon to-day the Troop A band will start on a tour of the city in a handsomely decorated car for the purpose of advertising the meet. Martial music will also parade the streets.

The secretary's office will be open from 8 to 11, and Mr. A. K. Miller will be there to sell season or single tickets and to receive payment for the boxes sold at auction.

The professional riders have all arrived and are in steady training. Last evening Trainer Shafer arrived in charge of Hamilton, the Colorado world-beater, and says that his star is in good shape to begin the season's work. Hamilton will be seen on the track this afternoon. Mr. Conibear, the trainer of the "white flyers," also arrived with his men last evening. The local amateurs did good work yesterday, and altogether there will be such sport to-day as has never been in the shadow of the Peak.

The new tracks will have a grand inaugural if we can only keep off the rains.

THE REGULARS ARE COMING.

Will be Quartered at Broadmoor for Two Months.

Some time ago a committee of officers from Fort Logan arrived in the city for the purpose of inspecting a location for a camp for the troops this summer while engaged in their annual target practice. The Broadmoor company offered them a large tract of land near the Casino. The letter below was received yesterday, and informs the company that the offer has been accepted. The troops will be here for about two months. The Seventh regiment infantry and the two troops of the Second cavalry will come in two divisions and remain about a month each. A camp of this sort will be a pleasing feature to the attractions of the city this summer. The letter from Colonel Merriam is as follows:

To D. Chisholm, Agent Broadmoor Land Company, Colorado Springs, Colo.:

Sir—I am authorized to accept your proposition mentioned in letter addressed to Lieutenant Colonel D. W. Benham, 7th infantry, of date May 12, 1896; referring to occupancy of land near Colorado Springs by the troops of this post for target practice during the current year, subject to conditions mentioned in your letter referred to.

We propose to establish our camp there early in June and continue till August. Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
H. C. MERRIAM,
Colonel 7th Infantry, commanding the Post.

Hail in Nevada.

Reno, Nev., May 29.—The heaviest rain and hail storm in years visited Reno this morning. Hailstones three inches in diameter fell, and hardly a whole skylight in the city remains. The Truckee river was the highest known in 15 years, and the Truckee meadows about Glendale are under water. Vegetation was considerably damaged.

Three men were drowned in the river at Prosser creek. Their names cannot be learned.

Gold Reserve.

Washington, May 29.—The treasury gold reserve at the close of business to-day stood at $107,4[illegible]. The withdrawals for the day were $1,6[illegible],700 in gold and there was deposited in gold by banks in exchange for currency [illegible].

A LIVELY GATHERING.

Forecast of the Chicago National Convention.

WILL ATTRACT A GREAT CROWD

But Peace and Harmony Are Expected at St. Louis—Plan of the Gold Men at Chicago—Split Seems Unavoidable—Other Features.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—[Special.]—It is now apparent that the Chicago convention is to be the liveliest national political gathering of the year. Probably a larger crowd will go to Chicago in July than will be found at St. Louis next month. When the national committees of the two parties met in Washington to choose the cities in which to hold their conventions, most of the rivalry was for the Republican gathering. It was expected to be the great convention of the year. No one had any other thought than that the nomination to be made by it would be bitterly contested. Every one supposed the friends of the rival candidates would gather by thousands and attend the convention city. It was also generally believed that the convention would sit for a week or ten days, thus pouring vast sums of money into the coffers of the city which should be lucky enough to secure the prize. On the other hand, the Chicago convention was expected to be a spiritless and uninteresting affair.

The St. Louis Session.

The outcome shows how difficult it is to forecast events in the political world. Probably the St. Louis convention will be in session only three days, possibly only two. In view of the fact that public opinion generally regards McKinley as the certain winner, the vast crowds are not expected to materialize. Men who have lost faith in the success of their favorite candidate are not likely to take a long and expensive journey for the doubtful pleasure of shouting for him. Probably the apparent success of McKinley is more unpopular among the hotel keepers and tradesmen of St. Louis than in any other place in the country.

Peace and harmony are expected to reign at St. Louis, while at Chicago there is to be fighting from the drop of the hat. Already it is apparent the gold and administration forces, having control of the national committee, intend to use their power in the temporary organization of the convention. In other words, they plan to use the same methods of political warfare which the opponents of McKinley had contemplated using at St. Louis, a plan which was long ago described in these dispatches. At Chicago the plan of the gold men is to seat all the contesting delegations friendly to their cause. That is to say, the national committee, whose duty it is to make up the temporary roll of the convention, will seat the gold delegations from Nebraska, from Colorado, from South Dakota and from other states. The convention [illegible] will have to decide whether or not these delegates shall retain their seats, but if by this means the gold men can secure a majority of the whole number of delegates it is pretty safe to say the decisions of the national committee will be upheld.

No matter which side wins, a split in the party [illegible]. Many of the silver men [illegible] over again they will not abide by the action of the convention if it adopts a gold platform. Until recently the administration [illegible] have kept pretty quiet on this score because they had [illegible] hope of securing a majority of the convention, and it was, therefore, not their play to talk about a bolt. But since the victories of the silver men in Iowa, Illinois and other states have indicated the triumph of that wing of the party the friends of President Cleveland and leaders of the gold faction have also talked about bolting.

A Split Predicted at Chicago.

At the present time the general expectation is that in any event there will be a split, and the sense that is now being played on both sides is to force the other faction to do the bolting. As I have already pointed out, the administration men have an advantage in their control of the national committee. Unless the majority against them is nothing [illegible] to seize control through the national committee and its [illegible] of the contests. This is what is desperate politics, but both sides are desperate. With them it is anything to force their antagonists into the appearance of irregularity, leading to themselves the advantage of constituting, so far as the record goes, the "regular" party.

Up to this time there is not much talk of a compromise. So far as the administration is concerned, President Cleveland wants the battle fought to the bitter end. He says so to his cabinet officers, and they have orders to this effect to their friends and followers. It is the belief of the president that it will be better for the party and for the country, in the end, to have a straight, clear issue joined, without any straddle, and let the country decide.

The silver leaders are also against compromise. They declare they will have nothing short of free and unlimited coinage at 16 to 1. [illegible] they [illegible] alliance with the Populists and silver Republicans, actually carry the country. The leaders on both sides are determined to fight it out and the general expectation here is that the struggle at Chicago will be bitter, protracted and sensational, similar to that which took place in the Charleston convention of 18[illegible] in the Democratic party split on the slavery question.

The Balance of Power.

But there are men who talk in favor of a compromise, and when the leaders get [illegible] at Chicago there will be strong influences at work in favor of a settlement on some lines that will hold the party together. These men will be in the minority, but they may hold the balance of power. They will appeal to the party loyalty of the extremists, they will [illegible] concessions on both sides, they will bring forward [illegible] calculated to appease the [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible]

In five minutes she came down to announce that Tom's room was in order, but no Charles was to be seen. But in a very few moments he appeared, very dripping and out of breath from running a bunch of newspaper under his arm. "Why, Charles, where have you been?" was his greeting. "Been home after my nightshirt," was his reply.

MR. BUCKMAN'S REPORT.

The Work Accomplished by the Chamber of Commerce.

The following is the report read by Secretary Buckman at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. It covers a period of three years, and shows the immense work accomplished by the secretary with very little money and no salary.

Gentlemen—In attempt will be made in this report to review briefly the work of the Chamber of Commerce during the past three years.

largely responsible for the crowds of visitors. As a result, a very large amount of money was left in our city, and this was widely distributed among the citizens.

In addition to these larger events, the Chamber did its share in the entertainment of numerous conventions and delegations, among them being some of great importance. Among these were several medical conventions, and the Public Health association which met in Denver in October last.

During last season the office of the Chamber was placed at the disposal of the joint agent of the Colorado terminal lines for handling the Colorado Springs business in connection with the National Education and Pharmaceutical association tickets. The maintenance of such an office in Colorado Springs was of immense advantage to us, as it brought large numbers of people here who might otherwise not have come. The plan worked so well that I [illegible] this season been extended to the regular summer tourist tickets, and on May 15 the agent was again established in the office of the Chamber where he will remain till October 31.

I have thus briefly noted some of the more prominent undertakings of the Chamber during the past three years; but these do not constitute by any means its principal or most important work.

Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Iowa, writes: I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory cough cure I have ever used. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is the question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with.

One swallow does not make spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

Take the Rio Grande No. 7 at 1:[illegible] a. m. for Cripple Creek, Marshal Pass, Gunnison, Montrose, Ouray, Telluride and Rico.

Marvelous Results.
From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Baker & Co.'s drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic & Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

A MAGNIFICENT STEEL ENGRAVING
Of Hagerman Pass, Colorado, size 20x36 inches, from a painting by Graham, can be obtained at the Santa Fe city ticket office for three dollars. Also, a beautiful lithographic production of a scene in the Grand Canon of the Colorado river, in Arizona, from a painting by Moran, size 22x18 inches, for one dollar and fifty cents.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Baker & Co.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills, overcome obstinate constipation. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

Electric Bitters.
Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness, yield to Electric Bitters. Only 50 cents per bottle at Baker & Co.'s drug store.

The method pursued by the Nickel Plate road, by which its agents secure rates as low as the lowest, tends to meet the requirements of the traveling public. No one should think of purchasing a ticket to Buffalo N. E. A. convention during July until they first inquire what the rate is over the Nickel Plate road. For particulars write J. Y. Calahan, General Agent, 111 Adams street, Chicago, Ill.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of—De Witt's Little Early Risers, for they always cleanse the liver, purify the blood, and invigorate the system. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

People who wish to go to Buffalo to attend the N. E. A. convention, who want fast time, the most excellent train service and superior accommodations, will do well to consider the Nickel Plate Road before purchasing tickets. A fare of $12 for the round trip will apply with $2 added for membership fee. Tickets will be on sale July 5th and 6th with liberal return limit and with privilege of side trip tickets to Chautauqua Lake and Niagara Falls and return without additional cost. Additional information cheerfully given on application to J. Y. Calahan, General Agent, 111 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Otsego, Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN.
The intense itching and smarting incident to eczema, tetter, salt-rheum, and other diseases of the skin is instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. Many very bad cases have been permanently cured by it. It is equally efficient for itching piles and a favorite remedy for sore nipples, chapped hands, chilblains, frost bites, and chronic sore eyes. For sale by druggists at 25 cts per box.

Try Dr. Cady's Condition Powders, they are just what a horse needs when in bad condition. Tonic, blood purifier and vermifuge.

Annual Meeting.
Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Lixton Consolidated Mining and Milling Company will be held at the office of the company in the city of Colorado Springs, Colorado, on Saturday, the 13th day of June, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such meeting.

A SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY.

Reports have it now that Dr. Gilman has reconsidered his agreement to allow the use of his name in connection with the superintendency of schools in New York City. We hope it is not a final refusal. The acceptance of such a position by a man of Dr. Gilman's calibre would do something to raise the standard of school superintendents all over the union. Such a place also would give to Dr. Gilman a splendid field for new activity.

The colleges and universities of the country are pretty well organized, and have definite aims, and their methods are well settled; but in the public schools of our large cities there is opportunity for a great amount of valuable constructive work of a kind that ought to be undertaken by the best-trained educators to be had. There is an analogy here between school organization and political organization. The problem of the future in American politics is city government; the problem of the future in school affairs is city school systems. So far, both city government in politics, and city school organization, have been conducted by "machines." It seems probable that there must be "machines" in both in the future; but the problem will be to keep the machine infused with wholesome vitality, and truly representative of what is best in civic life.

The present superintendent of schools in New York, Mr. Jasper, is one of the best machine men in the country. He has got the New York schools under admirable discipline, and they are splendidly organized. He found them very much disorganized, and brought order out of something that was very like chaos, and for this he deserves great praise; but in the perfecting of the organization there has been lost something of vitality and spontaneity; and it will be the difficult task of the new superintendent to infuse that, without injuring the organization. To do this, it will require a big man—a man who can appreciate what is good in the present system, a man accustomed to deal with persons as well as with abstract educational problems, a man of personal force enough to infuse his spirit into his subordinates, a man large-minded, broadly cultured, and capable of a tremendous amount of hard work. Such a man is hard to get; and it will be fortunate for the people of New York if Dr. Gilman, who we believe is such a man, will consent to take the place.

Now that the great cyclones are over, we think it is not out of order to call special attention to the admirable way in which they have been reported by the United Press, whose service the Gazette enjoys. The night of the cyclone in St. Louis, the Gazette received from the United Press, and printed the next morning, one of the fullest and most complete reports of the wreck that has ever been made of anything of the sort. Lists of the buildings destroyed, estimates of the loss, a particular account of the track of the storm and an excellent description of it, were among the features of this report. It has been supplemented since with the most definite and particular accounts of losses and the most accurate details of everything that was essential to be known. Of course it is the business of the United Press to gather news, but the excellence of its service can only be appreciated by a comparison of the accounts it has sent out of this disaster with the corresponding accounts sent out by the Associated Press, and printed in the Denver papers. This latter organization seemed to be paralyzed by the size of the event; the United Press rose to meet the emergency, as it always does, and sent out the best report of it which has ever been given of a similar catastrophe.

We reprint on this page an editorial from the Denver Times on the address of Mrs. Henrotin, President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. We heartily indorse all it says in regard to the good sense of the address. Mrs. Henrotin is a remarkable woman, distinguished no less by her excellent common sense than by her facility in discourse and her grace and charm of manner. There are a great many such women in the Federation, but none of them, certainly, could perform better the duties of President of the organization than Mrs. Henrotin.

Every year, about this time, one may expect little refreshing showers in the afternoon in this blessed climate of ours. Those who go on picnics should take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Minister Breckinridge appeared at the coronation of the Czar in knee-breeches—a concession to European ideas which we are not sure the people of Arkansas would appreciate. But Cliff is a shapely man, and we presume to say that he looked every bit as well as any of the other ambassadors, decorated though the latter were with uniforms and medals and collars and things. And he need not wear the knee-breeches when he gets back to Arkansas and holds a reception at Little Rock.

There is no need to remind the readers of The Gazette of the big race meeting that begins to-day at the Roswell track. They are all aware of it, and will turn out in force this afternoon.

The appeal of the people of East St. Louis for help has no doubt already been met. The American people are always quick to respond to an appeal of that kind.

In Memory of Capt. W. H. Williams.

The May time has come with its flowers
And winds that blow soft and low;
In the distance are sounds of music—
Of music he loved long ago.
He has marched many times with his comrades,
For in battles the Captain has led.
Oh, soldiers, do not forget him
When you decorate graves of the dead.
—EVALINE MEIER.

Old Arkansaw at Court.

Our minister to Russia has had to conform to court usages, so far as attire is concerned, during the ceremonies attending the coronation of the Czar. Still, the costume is very modest, and Mr. Breckinridge is far from presenting a gaudy appearance. A black dress coat, with metal buttons, white vest, knee breeches and silk stockings constitute his "make-up," while on the other hand, the ministers of other countries are able to present a most dazzling picture in the uniforms of their diplomatic corps. Not many years ago Gen. E. Burd Grubb appeared at the German court in the garb of an officer of the New Jersey National Guard. His uniform outshone the attire of the German military men, and General Grubb was regarded as one of the most fetching warriors at that particular function, although his campaigns had been limited to dress parades in the New Jersey towns. Minister Breckinridge is a citizen of Arkansas, although it is possible he has never published this fact since he was accredited to the Russian court as minister of of the United States. If he were a member of some one of the militia organizations of his native State, our minister could have appeared in the garb of an "Arkansaw" colonel in full regimentals. There is no doubt he would have created a sensation thus equipped. Perhaps he had enough of war toggery, however, when he wore the gray jacket thirty-five years ago, and if he had appeared at court in the tattered uniform in which he did his fighting, he would have been arrested as a nihilist of the most dangerous and desperate class.—(Baltimore Sun.

A Sensible Address.

At the recent session of the General Federation of Women's clubs yesterday in Louisville, Ky., Mrs. Henrotin, the president, after a few words of greeting referred the audience to her printed address. This action furnishes a precedent for men to follow, and is another evidence of the tact which is a distinguishing characteristic of the gentler sex. Mrs. Henrotin had a great many interesting and important things to tell the assembled club women and she told them charmingly in a little, broad-margined pamphlet they could read at their pleasure.

Among the many sensible things said by Mrs. Henrotin were the references to the women who really need club life more than the ones now most prominent in it. She said:

To women who live in cities the seeming monotony of life in country places is difficult to apprehend. A city woman needs her club, but to the country woman it is essential, for life with her seems in a groove and in danger of dropping into the personal on all questions because she is not in touch with the activities which are the power of life. The club takes the interest outside of the narrow individual life and brings it into unison with the community life, and through the state and general federation the community life comes into unity with the national life.

Club women should have no object, Mrs. Henrotin maintains, that will be more than a desire for the accumulation of knowledge or the enjoyment of social intercourse. In that proposition she is right, for anything founded on selfishness cannot develop or progress. Club life without some high purpose must inevitably die out. Therefore, the various organizations are working along the lines of reform, philanthropy or politics. One of the strictures put upon the ceaseless activity among the gentler sex by the president of the General Federation is cleverly expressed:

The marked characteristic of women's work is its lack of the continuity; they have done their share in inaugurating the peaceful arts and all the trades and professions which underlie the home, and yet from the fact that they lack the spirit of solidarity they are in constant danger of losing the reward of their labor.

In conclusion the economic value of the woman's club movement is dwelt upon. The modern woman is restless, exacting a field for her energies. She would enter more into the competitive struggle for existence if the altruistic organizations did not keep her busy. The General Federation stands not for the aristocracy, but for the republic of intellect.

As defined by Mrs. Henrotin, the woman's club movement means much to the nation, since it strives to attain what Froebel expressed when he said: "All is unity, all rests in unity."

A lady, at present occupying a prominent position at the Russian Court, was, when a girl of 14, invited to spend the day with poor young Lucien Hirsch, who was then living at the Chateau de Beauregard, near Versailles, with his father, the late Baron Hirsch, and his mother. Having feasted on all the delicacies which the Baron's generosity had lavished on the young guest, she went out with Lucien to play croquet. Pausing on the terrace she condescended to admire the view and the grounds, and her young companion asked, "If it were yours, Mademoiselle, what would you do with it?" "First of all I should turn you all out," answered the enfant terrible, probably actuated by the Russian aristocrat's aversion of Jews, and for the moment practicing candor at the expense of good manners. She remembers Lucien Hirsch now as a charming and aimable youth, and the late Baron as the incarnation of generosity.—London Chronicle.

"Sweden," says a native of that country, who has just been visiting it, "is building railroad, telegraph and telephone lines everywhere. Every farmer who has 100 acres or more of land has a long distance telephone. It is the most magnificent telephone system I ever saw, and is very cheap. News of great import is flashed over these wires from the urban to the rural districts, and the average citizen is better posted on the current events of the day than in probably any other country in the world. I was in Sweden all winter, and only two inches of snow fell during the whole time."

The burning of his beautiful home at Elsworth, Me., was a great blow to Senator Hale. Fortunately his library was saved. It is known as the best private collection of books in the State of Maine. It represents the collections of thirty years, and is the especial pride of Mr. Hale. The house was thought by many to be the handsomest in the State. It was on the Union river, about fifteen miles from Bar Harbor, occupying a sightly spot, from which a splendid view was obtainable. The house was of frame, and was peculiar in that it was absolutely satisfactory to its occupant, who congratulated himself that he had escaped the general experience of men who built houses and find something in them afterward not quite to their liking.

Baron Constantin de Grimm, who died last week, was born in the Winter Palace at St. Petersburg, on 30 Dec. 1845. His father was at the time chief tutor to the children of the Tsar Nicholas I. Baron Constantin tried various professions during the course of his life. He was a lawyer, illustrator and soldier in quick succession. As a soldier he had a brilliant career and won the Iron Cross for bravery in the Franco-Prussian war. He came to America at the instance of Mr. James Gordon Bennett, to make caricatures for the Evening Telegram. In this he was not very successful, but being quite able to catch the characteristics of the Americans whom he caricatured.

DEAF AND BLIND COMMENCEMENT.

Opening Exercises of Commencement Week Yesterday.

AN INTERESTING PROGRAMME.

The Graduating Exercises Occur on Tuesday--Other City News--Fast Horses and Speedy Riders are Here for the Races To-day.

The commencement exercises at the State school for the Deaf and Blind began yesterday. Quite a number of persons from this city were in attendance, including many of the teachers of the city schools. There were also present Secretary of State McGaffey and Attorney General Carr, and Mrs. Julia Killiam and Mrs. Culvert, all of Denver. The programme was arranged with the purpose of giving an illustration of the methods employed in school work, as well as the progress of the children in the various classes and departments. Each one of the teachers brought on the platform a number of children from a particular class and showed exactly what was being done with them, and how. The showing thus made was by far more interesting than the usual set display of school "exhibitions," and commanded the closest interest of the visitors. Perhaps the greatest interest was shown in the work of teaching deaf children to speak and understand spoken language by means of the lip-reading methods. Some surprising results were shown, accomplished in a comparatively short space of time. The work of two blind pupils in geography was also especially good.

On Monday evening will be given the exercises of the musical department, and on Tuesday the regular graduation exercises. Three of the blind pupils will be the first graduates of this department, after a course of thirteen years, or since the establishment of this department.

The school continues in a very flourishing condition, and the number of applications for admission received proves that the attendance next fall will be larger than ever before.

OLD TESTAMENT ETHICS.

The concluding lecture in Dr. Gregg's too short course treated of "The Hebrew View of the Ethical Principles Governing Society, Its Management and Its Laws." In continuation of the preceding lecture, it dealt with a miscellaneous group of topics, the first principal division treating of certain departments of Hebrew legislation—labor laws, revenue laws, poor laws, sanitary laws, laws of warfare, and the penalties attached to general criminal statutes. The lecture showed very convincingly, by comparison with the corresponding legislation of classical and other ancient peoples, that the Hebrew regulations were far in advance of the contemporaneous law of surrounding nations, both in humanity and in equity; and while the advance of Christian civilization makes some of them appear crude and others cruel, there are still parts of the Hebrew code which might be studied to great advantage by modern legislators. Such study in the past has indeed been the source of great advances in legislation, one example of which is the code of King Alfred, wherein the decalogue and many specific Hebrew statutes were incorporated.

The payment of wages, under Hebrew law, must be prompt. The taxes were far more moderate than those paid in modern Syria, and more uniform from year to year than those paid in America. The poor laws provided for temporary relief, but were calculated to prevent the growth of a pauper class. The sanitary legislation was minute, and in the main very reasonable. That the prescriptions relating to clean and unclean meats were based on sanitary rather than superstitious ideas may be seen from such facts as the absence of prohibitions against any class of vegetables. The laws relating to warfare discouraged the growth of militarism, and prescribed certain regulations in regard to the property and persons which might come within the power of the soldiery. In these respects, as well as in the absence from Hebrew legislation of torturing punishments, the Israelite was far more modern than the Greek or Roman.

The lecture reviewed briefly the attitudes of the Hebrew mind, under the influence of its ethical ideas, toward intellectual progress, in education, science and art. As to education, it was from the Hebrews that the Puritan zeal for learning in conjunction with religion was derived; and the schools of the prophets, founded by Samuel, were the earliest schools of any kind. But general knowledge was diffused more widely than scholars, until the important discoveries of inscriptions in 1877, were wont to believe, and we now know that Canaan had libraries before the exodus. Later Jewish education was much fostered by the circumstances that Judaism was "the religion of a book."

As respects science, we should look in vain in ancient Hebrew literature for formal treatises, but on the other hand such compositions as the 104th psalm, indicate keenness and breadth of scientific observation, and no mean philosophic insight. Always the Hebrew view of nature was undisturbed by the misleading phantoms of superstition.

In art, it is well known that zeal against idolatry was the cause of prohibitions which almost completely prevented any Hebrew painting or sculpture. Architecture was a little better off, but that whole department of art which deals with material shapes was represented in Israel chiefly by the minor branches of fine work in wood, metal, and precious stones. Of skilled artisans in these branches, an astonishing number were in Jerusalem at the time of its capture. But in the arts of music and poetry, the Hebrew genius was unfettered. Musical instruments and musical compositions were numerous, while the poems of ancient Israel will be the admiration of every succeeding age.

THE MEDAL IS SPICER'S.

The Last Prize Drill of the High School Cadet Corps, and Its Result.

The fifth and last prize drill of the High school cadet company took place at the High school yesterday afternoon. The drill was for a medal offered by the officers of the company to the privates. There have been five drills, and the best one in these was to keep the medal. Up to yesterday Private Spicer had had the medal to wear twice, and Wright and Sill once each.

The drill yesterday began about 2 o'clock, but the company fell in at 1:45. The roll was called, and only about 40 answered to their names. After this the company marched out on the north side of the building, and drilled there for about ten minutes. The movements were mostly those of fours and the manual of arms. Then Lieut. Alexander, who has judged the drill before, inspected the company. The officers of the company then fell out, and the squads closed up and were numbered, there being four of them.

The first squad fell in and were drilled about ten minutes. This is probably the best drilled squad, taken altogether, of the company. The best were Spicer and Sill. They were given mostly flank movements and the manual of arms. The second squad's drill was pretty good, and lasted about the same length of time as that of the first. On account of stormy weather they were marched around into the gymnasium of the school, in the basement, and were drilled there. The best in this was Thomas. The third was next and did well. The best were Gregg and Wright. Finally came the fourth, which was drilled about ten minutes. This squad is the small one of the company, and there were only seven in it. Cheley was the best in this.

After the squad drill the sergeant announced that the following would be in the last drill: Spicer, Sill, Thomas, Wright and Cheley. Spicer was first and did very well. After him was Sill, who did the best that he has yet. He was drilled about eight minutes and dismissed. The next was Thomas, who drilled fairly well. After he had been drilled about ten minutes he was dismissed. Following him came Cheley, who has been in the final squad almost every time. He was the last, and the company got their guns and fell in. The sergeant put them through a few motions, and then Capt. Brayton took charge, and Lieut. Alexander announced his choice of the winner. He said that before he announced his choice, however, that he wished to say that he was very much gratified at the improvement that had taken place in the company drill since he first judged the company, last Christmas. He said that he could see at that time that an earnest effort was being made to perfect the drill, but in spite of this there was some ragginess in the way the company performed the manual of arms. Now this had been, in a great measure, remedied. He could see that the company had tried hard, with a gratifying result. He then announced that he found it his duty to give the medal to Private Spicer, who, he said, had won the medal by good drilling, and by nothing else. He also said that the rest of the company was not very far from Private Spicer. The winner then stepped to the front and received the medal. Private Spicer will keep the medal, as he has won it three times.

After the drill Capt. Brayton announced that the annual elections of the company would be held a week from next Monday. The nomination for commissioned officers will be open next Monday.

THE POLITICIAN.

Roland Reed's Delightful Performance Last Evening.

Roland Reed has played here many times and has made the people laugh. Last night he appeared again with his excellent company and made them scream. Mr. Reed comes with his new play, "The Politician." It is the best thing that he has had since "The Woman Hater." It is a series of comical situations growing out of the manipulations of a cheeky politician, who induces an imbecile of an old man to run for Congress. It is filled with quaint characterizations.

Reed is the most popular comedian who visits here, and always draws a fashionable house. In spite of the excellent attractions that follow him, the races and a stormy night, his admirers were out in large numbers to see his latest. As the wily politician the comedian has found a part that is suited to his special talents. His make-up is exquisite and the humor of the part is entirely Reed's. It bubbles out of him spontaneously, and most of the time the members of his company are the most delighted people in the house.

Mr. Reed's company changes very little from year to year. In the cast last evening were all the old favorites, Miss Isadore Rush, Mrs. Mary Myers, Julian Reed, and a number of new people also, and they are well chosen. Miss Rush has long been known as one of the most beautiful women on the stage, and she well deserves the title. As Cleopatra, the twentieth century girl, she is doing the best work of her career. She shares the honors with the star now wherever they appear. Mrs. Myers was handsomely received last evening when she came on, and successfully carried the part of the sentimental widow. A prime favorite was William Bernard, as Pelham Perriwinkle; and the Peter Wooley of Sheridan Tupper was imbecile enough to be very funny. The remainder of the cast could not have been better placed.

The Reed company closes a forty weeks tour next Saturday evening, but Mr. Reed says that he is coming this far West with his new play, which is now being written for him.

"Pudd'nhead Wilson" To-night.

Frank Mayo and an excellent company will present the latest New York success, "Pudd'nhead Wilson," at the Opera House this evening. It is doubtful if any play ever made as firm friends and admirers among the people connected with the stage as has Frank Mayo's dramatization of Mark Twain's Missouri story "Pudd'nhead Wilson, and go forth shouting its artistic merits and unique construction, telling how Frank, dear, sweet, lovable Frank Mayo, has written a play that is constructed on new lines and new principles, and how he plays the title role in his own play and outdoes his own charming self in his creation of the character of Dave Wilson, whom his ignorant neighbors have nick-named "Pudd'nhead" and who Mr. Mayo makes the finest, most humane, and most interesting character study they have ever seen. Nor does their commendation stop here. Frank Aiken is Judge Driscoll, Emmett C. King is Howard Pembroke, Newton Chisnell is Sheriff Blake, Frank Campeau is Tom Driscoll, Arnold Daly is Chambers, The Wise Men of Dawson represented by William Gill and J. T. Tucker, those wonderful twins by Adolph Klauber and George Hallton. The sweet Rowy of Frank Graham, the fine work of that comely young emotional actress, Eleanor Moretti as Roxy, and the character work of Lucille LaVerne as Patsy, all come in for their share of the favor of the most critical critics on earth—their co-laborers upon the stage.

Mademoiselle Rhea in "Josephine."

Mlle Rhea will present her great play, "Josephine," Empress of the French, at the Opera House Monday evening. Josephine, Empress of the French, has been for almost a century one of the most beautiful and pathetic characters of history. For nearly one hundred years Napoleon has held rank so high that no superior, hardly an equal, has disputed his sway. The Napoleonic craze of the last few years has been proof of the wonderful fascination that the lives of this man and this woman hold for all humanity, and shall hold for all time. Albert Roland Haven's five-act historical drama, "Josephine, Empress of the French," is unique. The interest of the action centers naturally in Napoleon and Josephine. As it was when they were alive, the members of the court have no thought nor life independent of their emperor and empress. They play consists of a series of pictures showing the causes leading up to the divorce of Napoleon and Josephine, the event itself, and the results.

They Want Revenge.

The crops of '94 and '95 were decidedly short and ruling prices discouragingly low. Money is scarce in consequence. Add to this climatic conditions favorable to health, and the prospect is not very bright for druggists. In spite of it all, our business for '96 is 25 per cent. more than for the same period in '95. There's a reason for the increase reliability.

Mines, Stocks, Investments

Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association.

Colorado Springs, May 29.—Yesterday's proceedings at the Exchange brought back recollections of old times. The market was a very stiff and advancing one, with very heavy sales. The offers were large and numerous, but everything put under the hammer found ready buyers.

All of the favorites commanded higher prices, the greatest gain being scored by Portland and Isabella. The rise in the first named is probably accounted for by the general belief that the dividend for June will be increased from one to two cents per share. The first sale in the stock took place at 1 85, a gain of 4½ cents over the last recorded sale. It then went to 1 85, at which figure the remainder of the transactions took place. Isabella opened at yesterday's figures at 57½, but quickly rose by fractions until 60¼ was reached. The last sale was made at 59, the total sales amounting to 650 shares. Stamped Isabella was strong in sympathy with Isabella, and opened ¼ higher at 57½, and went to 58¾, where it closed, being dealt in for 500 shares.

Union opened ¼ higher at 31, at which quite a little stock was sold. Later it managed to creep up to 31¾, and 34¼, closing at the latter figure, with sales of 1550 shares. Mollie Gibson opened a full point higher at 66¾, but closed at 66. Mt. Rosa and Argentum were also higher, but were light traders. Archoria figured for 1000 shares at from 1 95½ to 42. In the unlisted department, Arcadia, Grotto, Squaw Mountain Tunnel and Enterprise were given unusual attention and all were good sellers. Arcadia is still being bought in by insiders and opened stronger than yesterday with an advance of ½. The stock fluctuated between 9½ and 9¾, with 9¾ bid at the close with no stock in sight. The total sales amounted to 42,700 shares.

Grotto had sales of 45,000 shares at from 36 per thousand at the opening to 37 at the close. The operations in Squaw Mountain Tunnel are hard to explain. The stock opened at 2¼ and was pushed rapidly to 5, when profit-takers began to unload and the stock gradually slumped off to 2¾ again, where it closed. Enterprise was quite active with dealing of 9000 at from 7½ at the opening and 7¾ at the close. The market closed very firm.

A New Dante Strike.

The latest good strike to be made on the Dante on Bull hill was made in the last few days on what is known as the Lucky Taylor lease on the west end of the Dante. A shaft has been sunk on an eight to twelve inch vein of phonolite and quartz to a depth of 40 feet, at which point the lead assays as high as $250, and $100 is considered a fair average on the shipping value of the ore. A shipment is being prepared and the ore is going in sacks. It will probably go out about the fifth of next month. The rock is of a sylvanite character, and promises to develop into a big thing. It is thought that this vein is either an extension of the Logan vein or the new vein which was recently opened in the Dante company's workings, which is very rich. The force on the Lucky Taylor lease will be increased to three shifts per day on Monday. This makes the fourth shift on the Dante which has got into pay ore.

39-Mile Mountain.

The Primrose claim, located at the foot of 39-Mile mountain, from which some very big assays were recently obtained, continues to show up well. The entire vein seems to be shipping ore and returns general assays of $100 gold to the ton. A contract has been let to sink the shaft 100 feet below its present depth. The property is owned by J. M. Ellis, H. A. Matheson, George J. Hewell, and A. J. Reid.

Week's Business.

The total number of shares sold on the old exchange during the past week was 669,650, of which 324,300 were in the listed stocks and 345,350 unlisted. The amount of money represented in the listed stocks is $51,612.58.

Bandora Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bandora Mining and Milling company was held in this city on Thursday, and the following directors for the ensuing year were chosen: F. L. Martin, C. E. Noble, O. M. Holden, C. E. Stubbs and A. W. Conacher. The meeting of the directors to elect officers will be subject to the call of F. L. Martin, chairman of the board.

The secretary's report shows that the total liabilities of the company aggregate $20,000, of which amount $6,000 is a bonded indebtedness, mostly held by the stockholders.

The Bandora company owns the Little Todd, Honest Bill, Bandora and Noble claims, in the Silverton mining district. An immense amount of work has been performed on these claims, which have produced a large amount of silver ore, some of which was very rich. No work has been done on the claims for some time, and in order to make the property productive under the present conditions of the silver market, the erection of a mill for the reduction of concentrates of ore, involving an expenditure of from $20,000 to $30,000, would be necessary. This amount, together with the aforementioned liabilities, it is impossible for the stockholders to raise.

A resolution was passed, authorizing the directors to lease, bond or sell the property under such terms as they may deem expedient and for the best interests of the company. The company has already received an application to bond and lease the entire properties, which will probably be accepted.

The Authentic Reporter.

A gentle roar is going up from the brokers who are receiving the Authentic Reporter, a small sheet devoted exclusively to reporting the transactions on both the exchanges. Various errors have appeared in the sheet of late and tend to confuse matters very much, especially when so many copies of the Reporter are sent out of town. On Thursday not a single sale in the mine list of the Board of Trade was reported, which naturally created the impression among non-members that no business was transacted. The report of the transactions yesterday at the old Exchange as they appear in the Authentic Reporter are entirely wrong in at least five instances, the total number of shares sold in Isabella, Stamped Isabella, Union, Arcadia and Grotto either being too small or too large.

AFFAIRS AT PINE CREEK.

The Camp is Booming—Development Work is Being Pushed.

Strangers are still going into Pine Creek every day, and the lack of accommodations for these visitors seems to be the main drawback of the camp. Tents are going up in many places and the work on the buildings is progressing favorably with the aid of fine summer weather. To meet the lack of accommodations a large tent is being put up to be 60x40 feet and to accommodate quite a number. The disputed town site is no little drawback in the way of building, and if this were only settled building would instantly have a big boom. As it is now, there are half a dozen stores in course of erection, besides the large hotel, and over a dozen smaller buildings, to be used as offices and cabins as soon as completed. Several real estate deals have been made, also mining deals, the latter being an everyday occurrence.

Mr. Pomeroy of Boulder has leased the Baltimore mine and mill in Black canon, and has a force of men getting things in shape ready to start up work in a few days.

The St. Louis tunnel, in Black canon, is in over 100 feet and in a body of high grade ore. Shipments have been made through the winter from this property of sacked ore, all the way to Boulder for treatment.

Denver parties have purchased from Ray & Ray their Golden Fleece property, on Utah hill, and will commence active work on this property at once.

Work is to be resumed again on the Boomerang, on Colorado hill, which shows up nicely at present depth.

At the Cricket tunnel a new car track has been laid; also a new blacksmith shop built, and they are in readiness now to push development work forward.

A good strike is reported in the McCaver tunnel, on Michigan hill, but full particulars were not obtainable.

C. E. Burkhardt of Denver has given a contract to M. Christianson to put up a store building, 4x20, which will be occupied as a grocery store.

Britton & Officer have resumed work on their Jersey City tunnel, on Nevada hill, and are in a distance of 135 feet and have a large vein in sight, being at present the width of the tunnel. Work will be again resumed on the Peglen, on Colorado hill, which has a shaft down 50 feet with promising indications.

J. W. Jenkins is timbering and putting in shape his Mascot property, on Colorado hill. The shaft is down 25 feet and sinking will be commenced in a few days. A deal is on hand, and in all probability the sale will go through.

The Detroit lode, known as the Evergreen extension, has a tunnel in a distance of 130 feet, which shows up about 18 inches of vein matter, and active development was commenced on Monday.

F. S. Tuttle, the assayer, is putting up an office on Main street.

The shaft of the Plateau mine is now down 150 feet and further sinking will be continued for a sump, after which levels will be run in east and west. The ore body in the shaft is still looking well and Superintendent Adams says he will commence shipping inside of two weeks' time. The Gilpin tunnel is now in 25 feet and is looking better with further development work.

Work has been suspended on the Stamboul property while waiting for machinery to handle the water, and Pete Bodinert concluded to do work on one of the claims in the Stamboul group, known as the Merrimac. At a depth of 10 feet he has uncovered a vein of from two to three feet of solid mineral, which is galena and sulphide of iron. A big assay was made from a piece of the mineral, showing way up values in copper, gold and silver.

A. T. Auter of Elk Park was in the camp Wednesday and says that work will be commenced within the next two weeks on a concentrator of 40 tons capacity, to be built in that section. If this concentrator will only treat low grade ores with profit it will be a blessing to that section of the country.

Newspapers and Mining.

Mining is a business in which sentiment does not play a very large part. The surroundings of a mining district are generally rugged, and people are not supposed to reside there merely for health or pleasure. The miner deals at first hand with the stern realities of nature, and success demands a high degree of skill, courage and industry. He is usually to a large extent isolated from the ordinary locations and avenues of business, and must be in some way make his voice heard by the outside world in order to secure the means of transportation for his supplies and products, and command capital for his undertakings. These surroundings usually develop in mining men the faculty of association, and they acquire the habit of working together harmoniously for a common object. It cannot, therefore, be said that mining, because of its isolation and financial and physical hazards, tends to develop selfishness and lack of public spirit.

But there is one element in the development of a prosperous mining camp that is not always valued at its true worth—and that is the local newspaper. Rightly managed and justly appreciated, it is of immense value to any mining district. It is, or should be, in all matters of common need and common interest, the concentrated voice of the district. As such it deserves a hearty and generous support. But it is a mistaken policy to encourage the venal or parasitical sheets that are frequently established to divide the patronage of genuine and useful journals.

It is to be feared that many mining men as well as many business men in mining districts do not rightly consider the importance of the part which a good local newspaper plays in giving prominence to a mining camp, and sustaining its standing abroad. No one doubts or disparages the indispensable character of the work done by the large dailies. They are well-nigh omniscient; but they are also omniverous, and, from the haste in which their work is done, frequently unreliable. Their picture of events is so to speak, not a continuous panorama, but a succession of "snap shots." On the other hand the regular mining journals can only record the larger operations and keep watch of the general trend of events. Both the dailies and the distinctive mining journals are glad to refer and defer to a reliable local newspaper whenever one exists. And when it vouches and endorses its news, most of its items are sure to be copied extensively thereby in many cases increasing their publicity a thousand fold or a million fold.

The local newspaper in a mining camp and the general mining journal are not in any sense competitors. We get our largest lists of subscribers in those districts where the local papers furnish the most mining news; and we also get the best and greatest portion of our weekly news budget from such papers and try as far as possible to give the proper credit. The sphere and influence of the local mining paper are not bounded by the limits of the district where it is published or the few hundreds or thousands of its subscribers. It gives wings to facts which if they have innermost interest and value, will fly to the uttermost parts of the earth.

Doubtless the great majority of the people of almost any mining camp will heartily agree with all that is here stated in regard to the local newspaper; but unfortunately they are often thoughtless and neglectful, if not intentionally stingy, in giving practical support. Good newspapers are frequently starved out of growing mining camps because the proprietor cannot secure business enough to pay expenses. We could mention numerous cases of this kind. Communities, like individuals—for they are made up of individuals—do not always recognize their opportunities and obligations. When each individual does his share, then, and then only, are the responsibilities of the community properly met.—Mining Industry.

Current Notes.

Broker Henry Russell Wray has removed his office to Room 1, Gazette building.

The Golden Stairs company has taken a bond and lease on the Ouray, on Grouse mountain, of F. R. Reed and associates. The bond runs for one year and is for $5,000.

Ore is being sacked by Young, Barker and others from their lease on the Snowstorm, near the south end of the Brooklyn, on Bull hill. A drift has been started at a depth of 65 feet.

Steve Klais is working a lease on the Hanover, on Raven hill, right in the midst of where they are striking it on all sides. He has a shaft down 120 feet on a good looking vein, but as yet cannot say much for the values.

Mr. W. B. Jenkins, manager of the Beaver Park mill, came down from camp yesterday. He states that the mill has been running to its utmost capacity for a long time. They are treating all the low grade ore from the Isabella, Union and Ruble mines.

The shipments from the Last Dollar continue with clock-work regularity at the rate of four cars of high grade ore per month taken principally from shaft No. 2. A shipment of five cars of cyanide ore was made Wednesday. Active development on the north shaft has not yet been begun.

A working contract was finished up yesterday at the Barrack lease on the Gold Sovereign, the shaft then being 86 feet deep with a drift of 29 feet. The workings adjoin the Bryant lease on the Lottie and the same vein is thought to have been opened. Some ore is being saved for the first shipment. The company propose to take hold now and the shaft will be put down 150 feet deeper.

Two new steam plants are going up on the Matoa company's properties on Gold hill. One of these is being put in place on the north end of the Half Moon, under lease to the Cosmopolitan Gold Mining company, where the shaft is down 100 feet and a little ore that pays has been encountered. The other plant has been hauled up and will be installed at the Jackson lease on the south end of the Half Moon. There is a body of pay ore here and hoisting will begin as soon as the machinery starts up.

The Bogart is again being worked with a prospect that the long lost ore is about to be recovered. The shaft is to a depth of 234 feet and recent work has been that of cross-cutting. At a distance of 80 feet west from the shaft Wednesday a vein was entered and the rock has the same general appearance as that originally found at the surface, in pockets that produced about 130 tons of rich ore. The owners, known as the People's Mining and Milling company, are working the property with E. V. Bogart in charge.

The Ruble mine, on Bull hill, has been shipping regularly every two weeks. The ore bins now contain some fine looking ore for shipment next week. A good chute of manganese has been opened, from which a car is to be shipped in about two weeks. This body is about the best paying rock in the mine and is expected to return about $200 on the ton.

C. B. Davis is finding constant improvement as the shaft goes down on the Lillian Leland. At 75 feet some of the rock is running as high as $47 to the ton. This is in the old workings of the Anchoria-Leland company upon which Mr. Davis and associates recently secured a lease.

The Houston and Colorado Mining company which recently purchased of John Calderwood the Lucy tunnel site, on Straub mountain, has let a contract for 100 feet of work to be done by hand, and when this is completed they will put on air drills so that more rapid progress may be made. The same company has also purchased the Lillie lease of the Gold Exploration company on its Lawrence two-site and has contracted for 100 feet of shafting to be done on a four-foot vein that now shows a value of from $10 to $15. The company apparently possesses ample means with which to prosecute development and promises to be of much assistance in opening the Straub mountain section.

How to Treat a Wife.
(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health.

Mr. D. F. Davis, a prominent liveryman and merchant of Goshen, Va. has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain and the use of one bottle completely cured him."

Colorado Springs Board of Trade and Mining Exchange.

Colorado Springs, May 29.—A very decided improvement both in prices and in the volume of business done was noted at the call at the Board this morning. Buyers were very much in evidence, and were eager for stocks, while the holders were rather reluctant in parting with their stock. A very general rise in prices took place, and the stock that changed hands brought better prices than for a long time past. The Isabellas were firmer and up more than a full point. These two stocks appear in the totals for 2500 shares. Cripple Creek Consolidated was higher and had sales of 2000 shares. Orphan Bell figured for the same number of shares and was also higher. Bankers was selling at better figures, but was a light trader. Trading in the prospective mine list was well distributed, and, as in the mine list, better prices were easily obtained. The best sellers were Ironclad, Squaw Mountain, Sacramento and Buckhorn. The prospects remained firm. In the miscellaneous department, Arcadia was quite active; opening at 11 for the first 1000 and gradually going down to 9¾ for the last 1000. Insiders are still gathering this stock in, but reduced their limit a little. The market closed firm and steady.

SILVER MINING IN PERU.

"Silver mining 16,000 feet above the sea level is not anything like what I found it in Virginia City and Helena, years before I ever thought of settling in Peru," was the way Henry Guyer, a former Montanan, introduced an interesting account of his life in the Casapalca mining district of Peru at the Brown Palace hotel. "It is difficult to live at that altitude in such a country as Peru," he continued, "and I was glad to get away for awhile. The principal troubles up where we were among the Casapalca mountains are headaches and nausea like seasickness. I took my wife up on the mountains three different times and each time she had to go back to Lima, unable to stand the climate of the mining district.

"How did I come to settle there? Just this way: Something over seven years ago I happened to be down in Chili and on my way back I stopped at Lima. There I heard of some Americans who were silver mining up the mountains. I went there, just to see what was going on, and became a member of the Backus & Johnstone Mining and Smelting company. The founders of the company are Jacob Backus and J. Howard Johnstone. That happened seven years ago and I have been in the Casapalca district ever since, and have most of my resources sunk in its mines and smelters.

"Our works are 84 miles up the mountain from Lima, and the Arroyo railway cuts our slag dump in at the middle. We are operating three silver mines and doing extensive smelting. We buy ores from all over Peru and can fill the silver bars we can handle to the Peruvian government mint at Lima.

"Our lowest tunnel is 13,750 feet above the sea level and the highest, Galera tunnel, over 16,000 feet. When we took up the property we found the lowest tunnel driven to a depth of 700 feet. We ran it 1000 feet into the mountain and then made an upraise of 200, giving us 1300 feet of workings from the tunnel surface. We are now thinking of making another raise, so as to connect this first tunnel with the one that is over 16,000 feet above sea level. It will necessitate a great deal of work and the expenditure of much money, but the mountain is full of ore.

"Mining and smelting in the Casapalca district is not difficult by reason of the climate alone. Supplies are costly and hard to get. All our timbers come from Oregon and our coal from England. English coal costs us $17 a ton and German coke, which we use as a substitute, $15. In the roasters we use petroleum a good deal, and there is where part of our hard luck comes in. Within the past few years three steamers that bring petroleum to Lima were burned down at sea, and a fourth ship wrecked, leaving us without a drop of petroleum for months.

"Then, when the Peruvians get up a war or a revolution, the 'mountaineers,' as the fighting men are called, cut the Arroyo railroad at both sides of us and we can't get anything into the camp. The last revolution caught me in the works and Johnstone and Backus down in Lima. They held us that way for six months, and wouldn't let us meet or communicate. One thing, though, they took the bullion, from the smelters down the mountain and turned it over safely to the mint officials in Lima. But they kept me up in the mine and smelter works, practically a prisoner, until they had wound up their revolution, and all that time I could get no supplies from Lima, or anywhere else.

"Another trouble we have is in getting labor for the mines and smelters. White men won't stay up there, if they can help it and we have to get along with Cholo Indians. They're a lazy set, who don't want to do anything but lie back and chew cocoa and corn all day long. The climate of Casapalca is remarkably equable while the sun shines, but we have a rainy season of about six months in the year.

"There is some mining being carried on by the natives but it is all done on the most primitive plan and with the crudest appliances. We buy all the silver ore the Peruvians can produce, and find a steady demand for the smelted metal at the Lima mint. Very little gold, only traces, in fact, has been discovered in the mountains around Lima.

"The cause of my visit to this country," concluded the mountain top mine operator, "is to incorporate our company under the laws of New Jersey. Heretofore we have been working as a Peruvian company. I expect to stay in Denver two or three days, and will then continue my journey a little westward, just for a kind of excursion."

When Mr. Guyer returns to Casapalca he will be accompanied by Mr. Francis Pearce, who was wed a week ago to Miss Mary Church of Denver. Mrs. Pearce will also go. Mr. Pearce is a son of Richard Pearce, the general manager of the Boston and Colorado smelter, and has an interest in the Backus & Johnstone Mining and Milling company. On her arrival in Casapalca district, Mrs. Pearce will find herself uniquely placed, for she will be the only woman in the place.—(Republican.

Government bonds steady. State bonds dull. Railroad bonds higher. Silver at the board was easier.

There were no traces of the weakness which characterized yesterday's stock market. In fact speculation throughout presented quite a firm undertone. The change for the better was due principally to the decide of shorts to cover up their contracts over the double holiday, although Judge Wheeler's decision in the Joint Traffic association case is beginning to be better understood by the street and this had not a little to do with covering. Besides the engagements of gold for shipment to Europe to-morrow fell below estimates $1,800,000 being engaged for export. Against this withdrawal a national city bank turned in $1,000,000 of the metal to the sub-treasury in exchange for legal tenders. A good deal has been said of late about heavy shipments in case treasury officials should decide to lower the premium on fine gold bars. To-day the local assistant treasurer issued notice to sell bar at 15 premium but there was no rush for bars as anticipated. Now that the banks, however, are showing more disposition to turn in their gold and strengthen the government, less anxiety is felt about the effect. The improvement in prices ranged from ½ to 2½ per cent, and was well distributed. Sugar was notably firm, brokers connected with refining interests being among the largest buyers. Rubber stocks were heavy and lower, the common falling 2 to 21 and the preferred 2¾ to 8¾.

It was rumored that there was fresh dissensions among the insiders, but the stories could not be confirmed. The common subsequently rallied 4½ and the preferred 1 per cent. Toward the close dealings in Sugar assumed large proportions and the whole list developed more animation. Speculation closed firm in tone. Net changes show gains of ¾@1¾ per cent, in the general list and 2½ in Consolidated Gas. Total sales were 22,000 shares.

Bonds were active and strong. Sales were $1,305,000. Atchison gen. 4's rose 1 to 79½; do adjustment 4's 1¼ to 41¾; Chicago and Northern Pacific 6's certificates 1 to 64½; Big Four gen. 5's 1½ to 127; Missouri, Kansas and Eastern 5's 1 to 82; St. Louis and San Francisco gen. 4's 1 to 24; Wisconsin Central 5's certificates 1 to 46¾.

In government bonds, $15,000 coupon 4's of 1925 sold at 127@127½; $9,000 do registered at 125½ and $3,000 coupon 4's of 1907 at 113¾.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 29.—The wheat market assumed a holiday aspect to-day moving very little either way and showing no feature either in the trade or situation. A report that harvesting was started in southern Kansas, and that the wheat was showing even better than expected had a sensational effect on the market early, but later prices received on moderate covering by "shorts." The action of prices was irregular and was governed by the preponderance of buying or selling to clean up for the week and the month, without particular reference to statistical items. Receipts to-day were 14 cars for Chicago and 30 in the Northwest. The latter section had 205 cars a week ago and 300 cars for two days a year ago. Local inspection from store were 69,000 bushels. Liverpool cables were firm and ½ pence higher. A break of 1¼ cent in May wheat at New York wheat at New York caused weakness in this market at one time during the session, but it was not permanent. Closing continental cables were irregular. Export clearances amounted to 158,413 bushels. Estimated receipts for Monday 29 cars.

Slowness was the main characteristic of the corn trade. The tardy and indifferent nature of the dealings were naturally incident to the last trading day of the week and to the advent of the holiday. Prices were hard or soft as the feeling of wheat altered. Receipts were 611 cars and 125,000 bushels were withdrawn from store. Liverpool cables were ¼ pence higher. Export clearances were light at 12,770 bushels. July corn opened at 29¾, declined to 29¾, where it closed, ½ under yesterday. Estimated receipts for Monday 522 cars.

The best days of the Alcazar theater were very strongly recalled last night, the occasion being the first production in this city of H. Grattan Donnelly's "American Girl." The play was a good one and was in the hands of J P Howe's excellent company, who, generally speaking, knew how to act it; and then, too, the audience seemed to be composed of people who desired to be pleased and who did not hold back from expressing their pleasure when they saw reason to do so, and this was pretty often—(San Francisco Evening Post
